Talk : Why does my life matter?

We want our lives to be significant, to matter, but what really matters? Academic success, vocational achievement, friendships, family, being physically fit? Does our value depend on these things? Not all is success! Contributing to a greater good than ourselves is important, but what is the greater good?

Peter Payne holds a Ph.D. in philosophy from Claremont Graduate University and is the Managing Director of the Institute for Credible Christianity. He loves to engage with students on various issues of faith.

Peter offers a new perspective on purposeful living

*The talk includes a Q&A session
